

2016 NIC Learning and Performance Symposium: "Interactive Instruction Ignites Learning!"

16A6000

August 30 - September 1, 2016

National Corrections Academy (NCA), Aurora, Colorado

The National Institute of Corrections is pleased to announce the 2016 Learning and Performance Symposium: Interactive Instruction Ignites Learning! This year's activities focus on the number one identified need of the corrections field, innovations in training and learning delivery, as determined assessment processes during our 2014 Symposium. We invite you to participate in this interactive experience!

What Will Occur During This Year's Symposium?

- Presentations by peers in the corrections field on how they are innovating in the delivery of training in their organization
- Breakout sessions in discipline specific groupings (community services, jails, juvenile justice, and prisons) to discuss training and learning issues specific to those settings
- Multiple presentations on learning strategies that move beyond slides and lecture. Final day dedicated to work on the book: Instructor-Led Interactive Techniques by Thiagi Group!

Staff development and training professionals from local, state and federal adult and juvenile corrections settings including jails, prisons, community corrections, juvenile detention, juvenile probation and parole, US Probation, Federal Bureau of Prisons, and Pre Trial Services. We also welcome leaders and those that support learning and performance in these agencies!

Specifically – anyone who works in criminal justice staff development and training including Training Directors, Training Administrators, Training Coordinators, Full-Time Trainers, Part-Time Trainers (Adjunct or Field), and Curriculum Designers regardless of time in role.
