

LIVE SATELLITE/ INTERNET BROADCAST

www.nicic.gov/Training/SIBT4C2011

When:
May 11, 2011
12 noon to 3 p.m.
Eastern Time
Register online by:
May 11, 2011

Closed captioned for the hearing impaired.

Thinking for a Change 3.0 Worth the Wait!

Version 3.0 is here – catch the buzz! Thinking for a Change (T4C) is the innovative, evidence-based cognitive behavioral curriculum from the National Institute of Corrections (NIC) that has broadly influenced the correctional field and the way correctional facilitators work with offenders and inmates. The program can be delivered to correctional clients by facilitators who have been trained to do so. Studies have shown that, when implemented with integrity, it can reduce recidivism among offenders. The success of T4C has prompted its revision, and there has been plenty of buzz. Now is the time to see if it has been worth the wait.

NIC's latest satellite/Internet broadcast, Thinking for a Change 3.0 Worth the Wait!, will review the basics of T4C and unveil the newest improvements to this time-tested program. The initial version of T4C was introduced over ten years ago. Thousands of facilitators across the country have been trained since then. For the past two years, NIC has been working to revise and update the program, incorporating lessons learned from delivering and training others on the curriculum.

This broadcast is not intended to train individuals on how to run T4C, but rather it will prepare those who have been previously trained to implement the changes in version 3.0. After watching this program, participants will be able to:

- Describe the scope and function of Thinking for a Change.
- Explain why T4C is a cognitive-behavioral evidence-based program.
- Examine the improvements incorporated into the T4C revision.
- Identify available resources that support implementation of version 3.0.

Register online at www.nicic.gov/Training/SIBT4C2011.
The deadline for registration is May 11, 2011.

Find your time zone/Know your conference time—

May 11, 2011, 12 noon to 3 p.m. Eastern Time

Central Time: 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.
Mountain Time: 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Pacific Time: 9 a.m. to 12 noon

Register Online

Visit
www.nicic.gov/Training/SIBT4C2011

Also find online information and instructions for site coordinators.

Who Should Attend

- Facilitators
- Trainers
- Supervisors
- Managers
- Program administrators currently using Thinking for a Change
- Those interested in implementing Thinking for a Change in their agencies

All agencies that register will be accepted. There is no charge for registration.

U.S. Department of Justice
National Institute of Corrections

Washington, DC 20534
Official Business
Penalty for Private Use $300

Address Service Requested

PRESORTED STANDARD
POSTAGE & FEES PAID
U.S. Department of Justice
Permit No. G-231

Is your organization looking for answers to the following questions?

What are the key changes in the new version?

What do I need to do to start running groups with T4C 3.0?

What must managers do to support the implementation of version 3.0?

Do I need to be re-trained in T4C?

Where can I get more information/answers?

Register online for NIC's upcoming live satellite/Internet broadcast
Thinking for a Change 3.0
Worth the Wait!

Participating Sites

See
[www.nicic.gov/
Broadcasts](http://www.nicic.gov/Broadcasts)
for more information about
NIC satellite/Internet broadcasts
and instructions
for site coordinators.

NIC's live satellite/Internet broadcasts offer corrections professionals an interactive video forum on current and pressing topics in corrections. These broadcasts are interactive and allow participants to engage with and learn from experts around the world.

Delivered via satellite and Internet streaming, the broadcasts are available for download by any individual, agency, or facility nationwide. Participants can view the broadcast individually on a computer screen or use a projector to enlarge the signal for a sizeable audience. Registration is required, but there is no charge.

