

Registration is Open for NIC's 2016 Virtual Conference Leading with Innovation!

Registration for the National Institute of Corrections (NIC) 2016 Virtual Conference: Leading with Innovation is free and now open <https://www.nicvirtualconference.com/LoginUser.aspx>

We at NIC are invested in breaking down traditional barriers to conference attendance, while offering workshops on current and emergent correctional topics.

There are many benefits to online learning -- saving costs and time, networking, convenience, and real-time and ongoing access 24/7!

Attending the virtual conference can satisfy both your personal and professional goals for learning more about the innovative practices occurring in the corrections field.

By joining us on November 9, you will:

- experience multiple workshops sessions;
- have the ability to interact with your peers and presenters via LiveChat, discussion forums and virtual information booths;
- and attend an interactive plenary session;
- all from the comfort of your desktop computer / laptop or smart device!

Register now and receive weekly updates on speakers, topics and how to make the most of the virtual conference portal!

From all of us at NIC, we look forward to your participation on November 9, 2016!
