

Registration is Now Open for November 9, 2016 NIC Virtual Conference

What would you do if we told you could instruct your entire staff through a virtual conference for less than it would cost to train just one person? Would you tell all of your staff to sign themselves up right now?

Now is your chance!

The National Institute of Corrections' Virtual Conference 2016 is a convenient way to gain insight into the latest issues facing the field of corrections. This year's theme — Leading with Innovation — will focus on innovative correctional practices and leadership strategies touching on many areas throughout the field.

Attendees from previous years have commented that the virtual conference enables agencies to instruct large numbers of staff all at once. They value being able to “share best practices [with others]...and be able to learn what other organizations are doing well.”

So, whether you join the virtual conference on November 9th as an individual or as part of a larger group from your organization/agency, you will each receive the same valuable experience from online learning as you would have if you each had attended a training program in person. It's the epitome of doing more—and training more—with less. Can't attend that day? Register anyway! All sessions will be recorded and available for later viewing.

The NIC Virtual Conference has no registration fee, and there is no cost to attend. To reserve your seat, please visit us at <https://www.nicvirtualconference.com>.

We look forward to your participation!
